

OmniGlobe Networks Chosen One of Canada's select "Companies-to-Watch" in the 2008 Deloitte Technology Fast 50 Awards

Montreal, QC, Canada, September 25th, 2008 – OmniGlobe Networks, Inc., the privately held telecommunications company specializing in the global delivery of cellular, broadband Internet and VoIP services, today announced that it has won a coveted Companies-to-Watch award - one of four separate awards categories that make up the 2008 Deloitte Technology Fast 50 Awards, for its innovative technology, exceptional growth and excellence in the communications industry.

The Companies-to-Watch (CTW) Award honours top technology companies that have been in business less than five years. These companies exemplify many of the winning characteristics of Deloitte Technology Fast 50 ranked companies, and frequently go on to score high rankings in the Deloitte Technology Fast 50 once they have a five-year track record.

"Companies-to-Watch award winners are potential global leaders in technology sectors that didn't even exist five years ago" said John Ruffolo, National Leader, Technology, Media & Telecommunications Industry Group, Deloitte." OmniGlobe Networks displays the management experience and superior technology that mark a successful early-stage company poised for continued growth."

Dr. Jason Neale, CEO and founder of OmniGlobe Networks credits OmniGlobe's commitment to its customers, its innovative technology and its highly motivated team with the company's early stage success. He comments: "The Deloitte Technology Fast 50 award program celebrates the world-class achievements of Canadian technology companies and we are truly honoured to be amongst the Companies-to-Watch Award winners this year."

The winners were selected based on the competitive advantage, market attractiveness; management effectiveness and financial performance of their companies. OmniGlobe was one of ten winners of the Companies-to-Watch Award across Canada and the only winner in Quebec.

About OmniGlobe Networks

Founded in 2004 and based in Montreal, Quebec, OmniGlobe Networks, Inc. is a global telecommunications company that provides reliable and affordable cellular, wireless broadband Internet and VoIP services to geographic regions around the world where terrestrial telecommunications are unavailable, unreliable or simply too expensive. Combining the most advanced wireless, satellite and cellular technologies with its own proprietary network management and bandwidth optimization techniques, OmniGlobe's solution enables Internet Service Providers (ISP) and local operators to offer fast, reliable broadband Internet services to consumers and business customers.
